Family Builds Strong Relationships

McPhee Associates Celebrates
50 Years in Business

The McPhee crew in the 1980's

Defined by its reputation and long-lasting relationships, McPhee Associates, a design/build firm on Cape Cod, has been an industry leader for years, honing their expertise and honoring their client base. Since 1972, they have maintained core values and quality craftsmanship that has made them a premier building company; one that respects its customers and is passionate about their work.

you work for and always doing the right thing. "It's about having integrity and understanding. You are working with what will be, for the most part, the largest, single investment [people] ever make... it's someone's home, where families are made, memories are made..."

For fifty years, McPhee homes have been cherished and memories have certainly been made. It is with the same values and a genuine mentality that McPhee continues to thrive, building upon the strong foundation from which it started. "We have worked hard to attract and find the right talent to join our team and contribute to the success and growth of the company," says Rob. "We are fortunate to have a great team who takes pride in their work and has a good time while doing this."

As the company looks ahead, there seems to be ample opportunity for growth, while managing the details and intricacies of the business and multiple projects. "We are excited for what the future holds and how the next 50 years unfold," says Rob.

"Regardless of what business a person is in," says Bob, "you aspire to do better. I learned to never give up. You make your own good luck."

At 25, founder Bob McPhee had a desire to build homes. After a few short years of building duplexes, he was able to move into spec homes, quickly amassing a portfolio that drew great interest in the area.

"My preference for style was always a Cape with angles, roof breaks, large chimneys, anything to add what I thought was character," says Bob. "I pounded nails during the day and worked on plans, estimates and proposals at night."

That hunger was evident to his growing family, particularly to his son, Rob, who runs the business today. "He was a hard worker, committed to the success of the business and taking care of his customers and family," says Rob. Aware of the homes his father was building, and of the land development he had begun, Rob realized the importance of building good relationships, earning the trust of those
